My Motherland! This word is too deep. It means a place where you were born. But we have our native city which we know very well. We love this place as a bird likes its nest.

Ryazan is such a place for me. My city is very old. It was founded in 1095. Our city was among those which fought against the Tatar's Yoke. Our town was destroyed. Later the capital of our region moved to Pereyaslavl Ryazansky. Old Ryazan is the place where archeological works take place.

Ryazan has a lot of beautiful streets, monuments, theatres and parks . One of the most famous streets in Ryazan is Pavlov Street. Everybody knows that Pavlov was the first Noble winner. I'm very proud to live in the town where he was born. And of course Ryazan is a birthplace of Sergey Yesenin, the brilliant Russian poet. Every year on the third of October Konstantinovo has a great poetic festival. A lot of poets, writers, singers from many regions and towns come to Konstantinovo to recite their poems, to sing folk songs and to take part in concerts. I'm proud that my native city is very old with great history, with many famous names and sights. I invite everyone to visit Ryazan.
